

Who we are

Our culture

As part of an industry that has been increasingly dominated by acquisition, merger and consolidation, Prestige Graphics remain as one of the largest independent brand management pre-press companies in the UK. This independent status enables us to passionately maintain the quality and expertise of our existing teams and remain focused on expanding the core skills of our business, whilst continuing to deliver true benefits to each of our clients.

We identify that each and every client is different, and therefore a “one size fits all” approach does not work. We allocate each of our clients a dedicated team that guarantee meticulous attention to detail, speed of delivery, personal service and an unparalleled “hands on, can do attitude”. Our proven business model is based upon honesty, commitment and partnership with not only our direct clients, but also all key stakeholders within the supply chain. This is led by a focused, personal approach from the owners of the business, the people who care more than anyone what we deliver and how we deliver it.

Continual investment in targeted and innovative technology remains crucial, but the importance of having the right people at the heart of our business is never overlooked. Whilst we ensure that we move with our clients needs for technology and the benefits this brings, we never compromise the personal touch that our teams provide. This ensures that we maintain the high level of service and efficiency for which we are renowned and that we feel are unsurpassed in our sector.

Finally, we are passionate throughout the business about our company ethos. We thoroughly enjoy our role alongside our existing clients and they in turn welcome our enthusiasm, expertise and commitment in delivering their brand to the very highest of standards. A result of this is long standing, trusted relationships and clients who are happy to validate our invaluable contribution to their businesses.
